Donna,

Where do i start? i held on to this card for the longest because no-one was worthy of it. Till You. I want you to know i will be forever grateful for what you have taught me not just about work but about myself. You make me want to be a better person. As i said before i admire your fight. Your strong & determined. I hope to be haif the mother you are. You've raised wonderful, smart, and respectable children.

Please know this part between us is NOT the end. I couldn't forget you if i tried. In the meantime hang on to your dreams of all the things we're going to do when you get out. And you will. I Feel it and Believe it! Truth and justice will prevail. I feel as though i have truly met a "friend" this time. I will cherish our conversations. Well i'm starting to cry so i must stop. Damn you Donna Hockman!

I will make you proud!

I Love You!

I wake each day knowing i was wrongfully convicted of murder. i've shed tears for the life i took and the pain and suffering my actions have inflicted on all those involved.

This tragedy could have been prevented had authorities intervned when i finally reached out for help. You know my trial was not fair and you allowed perjury, altered never tested & destroyed evidence to be used to win my conviction.

My testimony was the truth.

My motive was not jealousy but survival. You knew the facts before i went to trial but you chose to disregard them for personal and political gain.

So many things took place in the weeks and days prior to July 25th, 2008 that neither you or the jury knew. The torment i endured by Dustin Stanley can only be understood by the victims before me.

If truth brings justice why did you ignore it?

and if justice was served why must i die in lox6 cell?

-Donna
